

A level French

Why study French?

- You enjoy communicating with others.
- You want to learn more about other cultures, including films, TV and literature.
- You might like to work abroad in the future.
- You wish to increase your employability: language specialists usually get preference over other candidates of identical ability who don't have a language.
- Whatever you decide to do as a career, it is highly likely that you will one day find yourself working for a multinational company or for a firm with connections abroad: in France, Canada, Africa or Switzerland.
- The demand by companies for executives, management, scientists and sales people to be multilingual is ever increasing. Employers say they want people with skills such as engineering, law, chemistry, etc, who can also speak a foreign language.

Why study French at Solihull Sixth Form College?

You will develop language skills in a wide variety of ways, making full use of our two Multi-Media Language Labs and drawing on a range of sources from course books to the Internet. In class you will carry out a lot of pair and group work designed to build up your communicative skills. We have a range of interactive exercises including vocabulary learning and listening work. Each week, in addition to mainstream lessons, you will have contact with a native speaker through small group conversation sessions. We 'bridge the gap' from GCSE to A level with considerable study skills support, and by Year 13 learners are able, for example, to write confident summaries of news items in workshop sessions. We run trips and visits both within the UK and to France. Learners can also undertake a work experience placement in France via Blue Stamp Travel. This is a post-GCSE course.

Case Study

Among the recent successful learners to have taken this course is Sara Al-Nemrat.

She came to the College from Hall Green School and achieved all A grades in French, German and Politics. She switched to French at the start of Year 12 and progressed from a C grade to an A, earning a place at the University of Oxford to continue her French and German studies.

“The level of support from teachers was great. My subject teachers helped a lot during intervention sessions, especially with the Oxford admission exam, as well as interview preparation. The College organised an interview exchange event, which was incredibly helpful in having experience of an interview and giving me a good idea of any areas to improve.”
